“ I first met Dave when I worked at Chase Architectural Associates located in One Lincoln Center. The year was 1978. I would be rushing into the building in the morning to go to work (our office was located in the penthouse) so you had to take 2 elevators and it seemed I was always late for work. Dave was always in the lobby with his cup of coffee, waiting for me and we would ride up together. He always would tease me and make me laugh first thing in the morning. He was a great listener, helped us if we had car problems, went to lunch with us and most of all he was a great friend. Whenever I am downtown and driving past Lincoln Center (now Chase), I sometimes look up at the building and my mind is filled of wonderful memories of all the great times I had working there. It was one of my favorite jobs and I would like to think it was because of Dave. The girls in the office nicknamed him "Hollywood Dave" and he would giggle and smile when we called him that. How lucky we all were to have had "Hollywood Dave" in our lives. My condolences to his family. May you find peace in your heartache.
