“ Dear Susan:

I am so sorry about the passing of your beloved husband, William. Isaiah 61:2 makes clear that one of God's goals is "to comfort all who mourn." One way in which God provides such comfort is by offering us the chance to welcome our loved ones back from the dead. May this offer of a resurrection strengthen you in your times of grief. <http://tinyurl.com/T-35CanTheDeadReallyLiveAgain>

“ My heart is filled with sadness today as I learned of Bill's passing. However, I have to say I've never seen a more brave, determined man to get the most out of life for the time that he had left. Family is so important to him and you all are blessed to have had him in your life. He went through so many changes in the last year or so of his life . . . and I don't want to speak for him but I'm sure he would tell you all that it was the best year of his life. God Bless the family of Bill Furbeck . . he loved you all so much. Elizabeth

“ Mr Furbeck was a friend and one of my best tenants! I will miss our talks and his joking and his sweet smile. I will miss seeing him out on his porch and going in to take his trash out. Fly with the angels my friend and I will expect to see you at the door when its my time to leave this world! Missing you! Kathy Galloway Valley Apartments management
