“ Dear Kelly and the Wilson Family, I would like to express my heartfelt sympathy to all of you on the passing of your Dad, son, husband, brother, and beloved Grandfather. I am happy I was able to meet Kelly's Dad at her wedding. What a proud man he was that day! From knowing Kelly, it was obvious what a role model and influence he was in all of your lives. I pray that the warm memories of happy family times will sustain you during these days. Kelly, I wish I could be there to pay my respects in person. “ I am up at 3:30 AM...can't sleep just thinking about the loss of our Dear Bill. He meant so much to me and I will never forget how he mentored me through all of my early years and how I looked up to him and his daily courage. I recall numerous time throughout my life when I used Bill as a gauge to measure up to be the man I am today. He was a teacher and a true man to be proud of... He taught me everything I know about several significant areas of my life... He taught me how to hunt, fish (I hate fishing), home plumbing, carpenter work, roofing and auto repairs. He always had the attitude, (we can do that or let me show you how to do that). The day Bill became too ill to deer hunt was two years before I stopped deer hunting. Hunting with Bill was much more than the hunt, it was an honor to me to be in his presence. Without him, there was no hunting for me. Yes, there was friction from time to time and it took me getting struck in the head by God's decision to make Coleen ill to understand the true depth of the effect of illness on a person and a family. I apologize for being blinded by my own ignorance. There were things I (didn't realize at the time) that I should have done and didn't... This world is a difficult one and the times fly by so quickly and one gets caught up in the moment. I am so glad to God that in recent years we rekindled our true relationship and even then in Bill's darkest moments, he was a kind, caring and giving person. Heck, I just called him two weeks ago to ask him about a plumbing problem I was having and he offered to come over and help me. Coleen and I are truly glad you and Bill were able to come to our house for our impromptu late Winter BBQ a few weeks back. I felt something special when you guys were here, but especially with Bill. I didn't know it at the time, he would soon be dead, but there was a very special moment or look in his eye that made all our old relationship and friendship come rushing back into my life. I love you Pam and I pledge my life and support to you always. I loved Bill and will never forget him ever for being the most generous, kind, caring and teaching person he was... Love always, Your Little (fat) Brother, Paul E.
